

NOTES FROM THE FIELD

SANDY NECK NEWSLETTER

March 2026

As March arrives, the grip of winter begins to loosen along the shores of Cape Cod. The days grow longer, the sun hangs a little higher, and the subtle signs of spring begin to appear across the shoreline of Sandy Neck. Although the air may still carry a chill, March is the beginning of the gradual transition towards the vibrancy of summer.

We would like to remind everyone that the resiliency project for Sandy Neck is still underway and considerable progress has been made towards our goal. This will still limit access for people wishing to visit the beach. We will however, have access to the ORV on Saturdays and Sundays. Call before you visit to ensure there will be access.

To check the ORV status, visit our website at <https://barnstable.gov/SandyNeckpark> or call us at 508-362-8300.
